

Penalties

7. Any evasion or violation or attempted evasion or violation of these regulations will expose the offender to prosecution before a Military Government Court and subject him to the penalties which it may impose.

Changes in regulations

8. Changes in these regulations may be made from time to time and will be issued as amendments to these regulations.

Section II — Postal Regulations

9. In addition to the General Regulations the following apply in particular to postal communications.

10. Handwriting. All writing must be legible. The address, return address¹ and language indication must either be typed or printed in block Roman capitals on the outer cover.

11. Return address.

- a) All communications must bear the full name and address of the sender. Letters must have this information on the back of the envelope. Post cards must bear the same information in the upper left corner on the address side.
- b) The return address must be the permanent address of the sender,
 - i. e., the address which appears on the sender's identification card.
- c) If a communication is sent from a place other than the permanent address of the sender the return address shown must be his permanent address. A temporary address may be shown in the text* of the communication.
- d) The name of the sender must appear in the same form as appears on the official identification card.

12. Language. The language of the communication must be printed or typed in English beneath the sender's address.

13. Commercial communications. Commercial communications must show the word "commercial" printed or typed beneath the language indication. In commercial communications concerning transactions for which a licence or special authorization is necessary and has been granted, the licence number or authorization must be stated.
